

THE AUTHOR: ROBERT WINSTON-BURNETT

The author, Robert Winston Burnett, was born, raised and educated in the lands now better known as Zimbabwe - Southern Africa. Indeed to lands during a period and which formed part of then wider British Empire. Robert was raised and educated in the colonial setting of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia or a country named after the British explorer Cecil John Rhodes.

The author was effectively and directly delivered to conflict, both in personal and political terms. He was born to an English immigrant family, but then raised an African under circumstances merely termed by those from far off shores as "Just another British out Post." He was raised in lands during periods when huge advances were made and cities literary sprung out from the harsh African bush.

Two countries would emerge under Cecil Rhodes and to be known as Southern and Northern Rhodesia. Rhodes is the only known person having had two countries, let alone one, named after him. Cecil John Rhodes, the founder of the Rhodesia's, is buried in the Matapos Hills or an historic Matabele tribal area situated a short distance from the country's second city of Bulawayo. The locals or Matabele tribe prize Rhodes's presence by guarding and securing his remains with their very lives.

Rhodes was virtually adopted a local or A WHITE CHIEF and so set tones for white skins born to lands as indeed being African themselves. The author was blessed by an African tribal chief of the proud Matabele tribe and transpired when out patrolling the national wild life park known as 'Wankie,' then subsequently renamed 'Hwange.' He was virtually inducted as one of them, and some ringing endorsement from those selective who they welcome in.

The author also received gifts from those known as 'African Ancestors,' along with blessings of the majority Mashona tribe. A white skin blessed with a black heart and all set in Africa. It was while undergoing military training in the year 1968 Robert became more directly involved with a carnage wrought by on-going illegal poacher activities. He also lived or survived a majority of Rhodesia's Unilateral Declaration of Independence (UDI) from the British Crown and declared in the year 1965.

A grave action to leave in the wake unfolding attrition's in various guises. Severe actions which in turn delivered concerted international repercussions, along with being declared virtual 'Rebels' while international sanctions soon followed. The then Rhodesian Prime Minister, Ian Douglas Smith and his people were also soon declared villains of the peace. A whole community ended up fighting for their very survival.

There to be labelled and treated as virtual pariahs (even once being described as even terrorists) all for daring to institute meanings of evolution, rather than short term appeasement delivering ultimate revolution. The author's passionate about events of Africa as remains deep to the blood. He's chronicling journeys as seen through a white African's eyes as has credibility having been actually raised to the lands.

Once peaceful and indeed progressive lands, now has been transformed into virtual killing fields with ensuing loss of innocent life. We now reflect on humans as the appointed guardians of planet earth, while we also continually pillage rather limited resources. Somehow we believe finite resources remain inexhaustible! While along the way, then give scant regards to the fact time is fast running out for all.

All the while scavenging as vultures, yet with uncontrolled vigor and tear fine fabrics virtually asunder! Yes, we are placing our continued existence in the current form directly under the microscope and at dire risk. Well we PRAY FOR THE INNOCENT PREY and TRUST IN GOD TO SAVE OUR SOULS.

NORTH BECOMES SOUTH – UPSIDE DOWN

North Pole Moving to Siberia

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) Earth's north magnetic pole is drifting away from North America and toward Siberia at such a clip that Alaska might lose its spectacular Northern Lights in the next 50 years, scientists said Thursday.

Despite accelerated movement over the past century, the possibility that Earth's modestly fading magnetic field will collapse is remote. But the shift could mean Alaska may no longer see the sky lights known as auroras, which might then be more visible in more southerly areas of Siberia and Europe.

The magnetic poles are part of the magnetic field generated by liquid iron in Earth's core and are different from the geographic poles, the surface points marking the axis of the planet's rotation.

Scientists have long known that magnetic poles migrate and in rare cases, swap places. Exactly why this happens is a mystery.

"This may be part of a normal oscillation and it will eventually migrate back toward Canada," Joseph Stoner, a paleomagnetist at Oregon State University, said Thursday at an American Geophysical Union meeting.

Previous studies have shown that the strength of the Earth's magnetic shield has decreased 10 percent over the past 150 years. During the same period, the north magnetic pole wandered about 685 miles out into the Arctic, according to a new analysis by Stoner.

The rate of the magnetic pole's movement has increased in the last century compared to fairly steady movement in the previous four centuries, the Oregon researchers said.

At the present rate, the north magnetic pole could swing out of northern Canada into Siberia. If that happens, Alaska could lose its Northern Lights, which occur when charged particles streaming away from the sun interact with different gases in Earth's atmosphere.

The north magnetic pole was first discovered in 1831 and when it was revisited in 1904, explorers found that the pole had moved 31 miles.

For centuries, navigators using compasses had to learn to deal with the difference between magnetic and geographic north. A compass needle points to the north magnetic pole, not the geographic North Pole. For example, a compass reading of north in Oregon is about 17 degrees east of geographic north.

In the study, Stoner examined the sediment record from several Arctic lakes. Since the sediments record the Earth's magnetic field at the time, scientists used carbon dating to track changes in the magnetic field.

They found that the north magnetic field shifted significantly in the last thousand years. It generally migrated between northern Canada and Siberia, but it sometimes moved in other directions, too.

When North Becomes South: New Clues to Earth's Magnetic Flip-Flops

by Robert Roy Britt

Next time Earth's magnetic field flips, compass needles will point South instead of North. But scientists can't say when it will occur, and until now they've disagreed on how long the transitions take.

A new study pins down how long it took for the last four reversals to play out. It also finds that the dramatic turnarounds occur more quickly nearer the equator than at higher latitudes closer to the poles.

That means folks living during the next reversal, which some scientists speculate might be underway will see compasses change and behave differently in different locations, study leader Brad Clement, of Florida International University, told SPACE.com.

Giant magnet

Earth's magnetic field is thought to be generated deep inside the planet. An inner core of solid iron is surrounded by an outer core of molten iron. They rotate at different rates, and the interaction between the regions creates what scientists call a "hydromagnetic dynamo." Just as space craft visiting planet Earth effectively materializes and speed up once more to appear as having vanished.

It's something like an electric motor, and it generates a magnetic field akin to a giant bar magnet. The process is not completely understood. In fact, one study suggests the planet's mantle, which surrounds the core, also plays a role.

However it works, the setup has been in place for at least 3 billion of Earth's 4.6 billion years, scientists figure. But the field is shifty, periodically growing stronger and weaker, moving around, and even flipping its polarity entirely.

In the past 15 million years, there have been four reversals every 1 million years, or about one shift each 250,000 years, Clement explained. The last one, however, was 790,000 years ago. That might suggest we're overdue for a big change. Not necessarily so, Clement says. The flips are not periodic, meaning they don't adhere to a schedule of even intervals (But who really knows).

Yet the intensity of the magnetic field has been dropping for the last 2,000 years, and "it has dropped significantly" during the past two decades, Clement said. One recent study shows the decline in strength amounts to 10 percent over the last 150 years.

Flip in progress?

Some scientists speculate a reversal is underway. Clement said that's like forecasting that the bottom will drop out of the stock market because it's gone down the past few days. "We just don't know," he said.

Researchers also have not known how long it takes for the magnetic field to make a transition. Studies have suggested anywhere from 1,000 to 28,000 years are required to initiate and complete a reversal.

"It is generally accepted that during a reversal, the geomagnetic field decreases to about 10 percent of its full polarity value," Clement said.

"After the field has weakened, the directions undergo a nearly 180 degree change. Then the field strengthens in the opposite polarity direction. A major uncertainty however has remained regarding how long this process takes."

Even possibly underway right now to usher in a new world order!

Clement examined sediment cores gathered from deep-ocean sites in a National Science Foundation (NSF) program. The cores provided readings at multiple sites for the past four flips. He found that each took about 7,000 years.

Interestingly, however, there is significant variation depending on latitude.

Which way is up?

It takes less time around 5,000 years for the reversal to occur at lower latitudes. And it takes longer about 10,000 years, for the flip to play out nearer the poles. So not only would a compass gradually does a somersault in readings, but Arctic dwellers would see changes that wouldn't match what tropical observers would note across the generations.

Nobody understands how the shift occurs. Perhaps, Clement says, the magnetic field shrinks to essentially nothing, leaving several "mini-poles" at the surface before the main poles rebuild on opposite sides of the world.

Scientists have plenty of reasons to seek a better understanding. For one, the magnetic field lines extend out beyond Earth's atmosphere and provide the first line of defense against strong solar storms. And Clement wonders how the reversals might affect navigation by migrating birds and other animals that key in on the magnetic field to find their way.

"But 7,000 years is probably enough for them to adapt," he said. Light time years differ greatly to a more static third dimension shift!!

"Clement has demonstrated that magnetic field reversal events occur within certain time frames, regardless of the polarity of the reversal," said Carolyn Ruppel, program director in NSF's division of ocean sciences.

The study is detailed in the April 8 issue of the journal Nature.

"The work is an important contribution to our understanding of magnetic field reversal on our planet," said Ronald Merrill, a professor of geophysics at the University of Washington, in an analysis written for the journal.

ASTROLOGY TRANSIT

Credit to Leslee Dru Browning: PREVIOUS PREDICTIONS AS PROOF HUMANS REACT ASC GUIDED BY POSITIONING OF THE STARS - PLANETS AND CONSTELLATIONS!

Looking at an astrology transit chart which I have erected for Oct 13 at 11:50 PM, Philadelphia, PA I see a Crossbow Formation. I call it a crossbow because I use a few esoteric angles that some astrologers do not.

The aspect, which comes into play for a crossbow configuration is called a septile, representing fatality and immortality. So, like all aspects within a chart, we have two meanings, two sides.

The septile is a 51+ degree angle and is seen in many “famous” people’s charts and who have “public” deaths, and become immortal through their presence while they were still physically on Earth. Two Examples: Princess Di and John Lenon. For a crossbow configuration, there needs to be two septiles making contact to one of the planets in an opposition. The chart for Oct 13th, 2001 is a transit chart, meaning it is simply a lay out of the heavens on that particular time and day.

Transits effect the universe, not just one single person or entity, so what I am going to talk about is worldwide, yet the Houses that these aspects fall into will be solely for the chart I erected for Philadelphia at 11:50PM. The crossbow consists of an opposition, two planets in a face-off per se at 180* and two septiles connecting to one end of this opposition.

So, think of the shape of a crossbow, or even an arrow. Saturn and Pluto remain in opposition, not quite exact, but almost. The other planets completing the crossbow are Neptune septile Pluto, and a Sun/Mercury conjunction that is septile Pluto.

Mercury Retrograde; meaning miscommunications alone can be a trigger for the crossbow to be released. Now, let's take a good look at these planets, and what part they play in this configuration: Keep two things in mind.

Every Planet is two-sided like a coin, and astrology is not so much Predictive, as it is about Potentials. So, although what I write here could be a major cause for an unpleasant event, it only happens if mankind chooses to use the negative side of the coin instead of the benevolent. Everything is choice when it comes to astrology. The path of action is chosen by a person, nation, it is not forced upon them.

For instance, someone chose to take the intense power and tension created by the Pluto-Saturn opposition to destroy the WTC. Astrology did not make them commit the horrendous act. It just indicated that such an act could happen. It all depends on what fork in the road is chosen at the crossroad, and this is entirely a human/nation decision.

SATURN for the Philadelphia chart is residing in the 11th house of humanitarian issues, social groups, goals, and politics. Saturn, also known as Kronus in Mythology, is representative of the strict teacher and father principle. It is the planet that rules responsibility and duty. Saturn demands an accounting of all our actions and can be related to karma.

Saturn is also the wisdom that grows with age and makes us see that karma is simply a cause and effect. We reap what we sow and perhaps this is why Saturn is oftentimes referred to a "reaper". It is the quiet voice inside us all that lets us know if our plans and actions are within legal, moral and social acceptability.

Saturn also rules fear, apprehension and depression, but only when fair play and rules of the game have been broken such as now. It is not accidental that Saturn be prominent when war arises. The rules of the game have been broken concerning world events in many areas. Saturn is here to say enough, or pay the price! And, this holds true for the entire world, not just a particular country. PLUTO in the chart is residing in the 5th house of personal interests, which would be Philadelphia's interests, speculation, creativity, children and self-expression.

So the Saturn/Pluto opposition is one that involves humanity, politics, personal interest's speculation and self-expression. Each country has their own ideas, beliefs, interests, and this opposition is bringing about the potential for a fight among countries to defend their own interests. Pluto, the god of wealth and hidden jewels in mythology, is also the god that rules the underworld and the dark aspects of the soul.

It is the planet that brings regeneration and transformation and as the mystics know, until one dance's in the sacred space with the beast inside and free ourselves of it, we will never know our true self. Now we can comprehend how powerful this rare transit between these two planets are, and what it may trigger. The point on the crossbow connects to each side of Pluto's point in this chart.

The septile between Pluto and Neptune is appropriate, as Neptune indicates water and this war will cross many seas. Neptune resides just inside the 7th house of partnerships, and with it connecting to Pluto by septile; long distance partnerships can bring about fatalities, whether they are political partnerships, human, government, etc. Major transformations will be seen, also, with Neptune, alliances and partnerships formed at this time.

They may and not be what they seem, as Neptune often times blurs the picture, creates a fog. This is an aspect that needs to be carefully considered when a country takes another country as an alliance, especially in a war situation, as clarity is not presently here. In other words partnerships are not what they seem to be. The 7th house also includes balance, harmony, diplomacy and principles, again clouded by Neptune. Information about this war coming from the media can be highly misrepresented with Neptune interfering in partnerships.

NEPTUNE in mythology is the planet of illusions, uncertainty and is the Roman God of the Sea. As water can shift and also flow so it is with the Neptunian person, country or transit. Neptune influences are emotional, whether it is anxiety, depression, sadness and uncertainty, which is presently at its zenith! Tears are watery like Neptune. The other aspect to the crossbow is the conjunction (meaning at the same degree) of the Sun and Mercury Retrograde in the 3rd house.

The 3rd house is the house of knowledge on a mundane level, communications and with Mercury Retrograde this is a double whammy for miscommunications. This house also covers environment. With the Sun and Mercury sitting on top of each other ego matters and arguments can arise. Not to mention all means of communication breakdowns. According to oldest tradition the Sun rules are inner self, the will, the ego, and how we view the world.

Mercury in mythology was the messenger of the god, the gods of intelligence and eloquence which becomes reversed with Mercury Retrograde. Mercury in the 3rd house, which is at home there, is associated with our mental faculties and the ability to communicate. With both the Sun/Mercury septile to Pluto great misunderstanding can take place.

With just the single aspect of the crossbow in the October 13th chart, it alone shows potential for another or many tragic events. Let us hope it does not happen, but with hot tempers mixed in with personal emotions of each country, anything could happen. Water should be a big factor with Neptune ports, ships, coastal lands, navy, water sources, should all be carefully monitored. Also, this aspect does not just effect October 13th, but days before and after.

ADDITIONAL ASPECTS on October 13th.

Mars in the 6th house of health, service, employment, but is opposing Jupiter in the 12th house of hidden karma, hidden enemies, self undoing, blind spots, suffering and universal laws. With the 6th house concerned with health, and the 12th with institutions like hospitals, we could expect many people needing medical treatment from this war, as we did with the WTC. Mars is the mythological god of war.

Jupiter is also called Zeus, the Lord of the Sky (airplanes, satellites) and is astrologically associated with growth, expansion, hope, and optimism. Jupiter rules religion and truth, and with Mars opposing Jupiter it is no wonder this is called a “Religious War”. Mars is moving away from this aspect now and isn’t nearly as tight an opposition as it was a few weeks back. But, Mars will strike again on October 23 when it is an exact conjunction on the USA’s Pluto

OCTOBER 13TH ASPECTS COMPARED TO THE USA CHART.

Uranus is transiting the 4th house so expect the unexpected, also electrical mishaps, power disruptions, computer problems, electrical storms, including solar flares as one friend pointed out. Neptune is squaring the US Ascendant so this is not a good time for serious decisions, but too late for that I am afraid.

Let us put some energy towards clarity. Saturn is moving closer to a conjunction on the USA 8th house position of Uranus which may cause great destruction, death or transformation. It will be a slow conjoining though as both these planets are not fast movers. Due to this aspect alone, I expect this war to be a long one.

Mars is heading for a conjunction with US Pluto in the 4th house and when this conjunction is exact or close can expect more attacks on US soil, but also, our children leaving home to fight in this war. The exact date for this transit is OCTOBER 23, so, another volatile day where anything could happen. Uranus rules electricity and brings sudden and quick change.

DIRECTED SOLAR ARC FOR THE USA

In this chart, we have Neptune squaring the north node and by its placements, again reiterate foreign lands across many seas that will be touched by Neptune's illusion.

SUMMING IT ALL UP

The earthquakes along the western coastline did take place; we had 5 of them at a 5.2 Richter level from Canada to Hawaii. This shook up the earth and opened vortexes. The Seattle area has been awakened to a new energy, as well as all along the coast of Puget Sound. The earthquakes, if you were to mark them on a map made a circle, I am looking at this as the Circle of Life. Additional earthquakes would not be surprising as well as volcanic eruptions with the Mars/Pluto conjunction.

In truth, the rest of October will be touch and go with many ups and downs and threats and attacks, and when I say this I mean other countries as well. With Pluto in Sagittarius we need to be super cautious with our children as Sagittarius rules education, schools, sports, war orders, etc. With Saturn in Gemini, I myself would not fly now if at all possible, and I would watch for bronchial illnesses or airborne virus's (take Myrrh or Golden Seal) or another preventive herb to help keep bacteria and illness at bay.

If are airborne virus's, then watch for isolated buildings and small areas of the world. Dates 12, 13 14, 23, 31 & Nov 1, yet with the astrological situation, any date is volatile throughout October. With the planets of Mars, Pluto, Saturn, Neptune the greatest transformers, look for fires, phone lines, computer connections, transportation of all kinds. Neptune can bring war on the sea as well as flooding, and confusion mix-ups. Again these are only potential events folks, but we do need to beware of these potentials, so that we can take the precautions we need.

Watch out for China and Russia: For over a few years now I have been having a reoccurring dream about Russia and China. The USA forms an alliance with Russia, who ultimately will use this partnership to turn against us in the end. China scares me and I believe, even with the US doing heavy trade with China, that China will be supportive of the Taliban. I expect sooner or later that China will move their troops in a position against the US and form alliance with Afghanistan. It feels as though it is already in the works.

The following three paragraphs are portions from my August newsletter that went out to my private clients this past summer. Mars has been in Sagittarius, a fire sign, since February of 2001, and it will continue in that sign until September 9. Mars rules such things as war, violence, erupting volcanoes, fires, explosions, earthquakes, and accidents. And quick tempers. This energy has already manifested as volcanoes erupt, city and forest fires burn out of control all over the world.

Violence is on the rise in the Middle East, and earthquakes of massive proportion seem to be shaking up the earth. Mt. Etna erupted, as did other many volcanoes. Washington State has been hit hard by power of Mars with an abundance of forest fires throughout the summer. One which took lives of young firefighters, underground fires beneath Seattle, and the culmination is that Mt. Rainier is awakening with activity and expected to erupt in the next few months.

September 9, Mars will be moving into the next sign watch out for upheaval. Mars moves into Capricorn in September 9, and will stay there until October 28. October 28 is, I believe, when the Statue of Liberty was given as a gift to the USA by France. This date may prove to be very symbolic as far as the Freedom of America is concerned. Mars moves into the earth sign Capricorn, and although Mars rules Aries, Mars is exalted in Capricorn.

This is the Martian sign of war! Mars will be opposing Jupiter the end of September and the first week in October. This aspect usually causes troop movement in various parts of the world, and brings with it a war vibration. Conflicts with foreign countries are a possibility at this time. I still say the countries to watch in additions to the Middle East are China, Taiwan and Russia if not now, then in the next 6 months to 2 years.

Capricorn is the sign of the Military General. As Jupiter moves through Cancer it will activate both George Bush's Sun, and also the chart of the US. The US will face many difficult challenges during September and October because Mars will be opposing his sun. This is a war like violent aspect.

This aspect will also affect the United States birth chart, so both military conflict, and terrorist acts in the US would not be a surprise. Jupiter rules religion. Conflicts that arise at this time will look to stem over religious beliefs, and with this energy then I believe we are headed for a major confrontation in the Middle East. There has been continual fighting in the Middle East for eons of time.

This has built up one hot volatile area, but can we just point to the Middle East. I say NO, the Middle East has been a source of religious conflict for thousands of years. This war will not just be Middle East's alone. It will be a war of many. Jupiter rules Religion and Higher Truth, so expect conflict to arise.

Arise for any who have joined in the bloody religious battles, political deceit, and false prophecy. It stems clear back to the first century this pretty much includes the US, European Countries, Russia, China, and the entire Mid-East areas. There is, and has been, a war going on for control of the vortex over the Middle Eastern lands.

In the past, whoever controlled this vortex controlled Earth. Control is the KEY to this war, control of oil, wealth, freedom of religious choice, freedom of speech, freedoms as human rights as we know them, will slowly go by the wayside. Other countries as well will lose what freedoms then have.

A Grand Shakespearean is being performed before our eyes the lay is hypnotic, sensationalized and plays on every human emotion imaginable. For survival, one must walk out of the play, quite watching the propaganda, step back and analyze just what the media has had to say? Sounds like a script to me.

Concerning the Statue of Liberty, here is a letter I received and answered on Monday, September 17th. Quite informative links about The Statue of Liberty for those of you who are curious about her! Brief Answers Speculations by Leslee Dru Browning Original Message

From: Bill To: Astrocafe@qwest.net Sent: Monday, September 17, 2001 7:19 PM Subject: RE: Statue of Liberty; question about Chiron and Astrology.

Leslee, you were right about Oct. 28th, the date of dedication of the Statue of Liberty: <http://www.nps.gov/stli/prod02.htm>. But that got me curious... These other sites caught my eye too: Who is the Goddess of Liberty?

<http://www.ggriffith.com/goddess.htm>

Laurel leaves represent triumph, victory in Christianity it depicts martyrdom (control through religion?) In Graeco Roman symbolism is victory, truce, peace, and it sacred to Apollo, Dionysos, Juno, Diana and Silvanus and represents the nymph Daphne, who was changed into a laurel. Lady Liberty, a monument to slaves?

<http://freemasonry.org/phylaxis/notes2-00.htm>

This is an interesting concept, yet I am wondering, coming from France, if it were to represent black people. It was thought at one time, Mary Magdalene was black or of dark skin. France was very much pro Mary Magdalene until the Holy Roman Church massacred the Cathars and the Templars... could the torch be representative of the Church burning the Cathars and slow roasting a few Templars?

If so, I am wondering if it does not mean that "the goddess" has been lost, destroyed her by fire, but she will rise once more! Copper for Lady came from NORWAY! <http://home.online.no/~kanda/statue.htm> In 1920, His Majesty King Haakon VII, of Norway another reference to a knight, decorated Mr. Giaver with the order of Knight of St. Olaf, 1st class. YEP: the Copper folks agree here: http://www.copper.org/pub_list/pubs/printer_cu-facts.html

One of the famous Dead Sea Scrolls found in Israel is made of copper instead of more fragile animal skins. The scroll contains no biblical passages or religious writings, only clues to a still undiscovered treasure. Copper Electrical, Computers and the Mint for money, used in everything. Also, there was a place in France that was mining for copper I believe, and some thought this was actually something to do with the Treasures of the Cathars and Templars?

I don't remember any past about Liberty and that slavery idea on the net. This is the best I could find without going to a library. I would consider big business behind this if we look at the component of the statue copper and all that copper is used in. Not great clues, but some here. For instance, this could mean Money and Communications brought down in the US perhaps with big business behind it.

It ties in with France most definitely, and France is on my list of “suspects” behind the scenes. Has France come forward in support of the US, I highly suspect Russia China or both. What you have here is a state that represents the “goddess” which this country does not acknowledge. We have Christian Martyrdom easily manipulated.

Did you happen to see my post yesterday on Paranoid Times? I will forward you a copy. Oct 28th could be significant, not sure. I feel an island may be the next target, or a target. Keep hearing Hawaii that is why I am up, couldn't sleep. But, Hawaii was where Pearl Harbor happened, so I believe this simply represents another surprise attack could just be that simple. DARK TO LIGHT – MOMENTOUS MOMENT OF CLAIMING THE 5th VIBRATION HOLOGRAPHIC NEW WORLD THROUGH LIGHT CONFIGURATION:

This is a momentous time for divine light, so watch for Earthly counter measures while using fear factors. Now many facets of the Divine Light Convergence Plan unfold simultaneously. All Light workers are being asked by the Company of Heaven to redouble our efforts and to BE HERE NOW! Eleven is the master number that reflects the transformation of the physical into the Divine.

Our ‘I AM’ Presence encoded this sacred geometry into our genetic patterns prior to this embodiment. For some time now, people have been noticing 11:11 on digital clocks and various digital readouts. This code activates within us the genetic memory of the transformation we are all going through. The 11:11 code represents the transformation of the 3rd Dimensional plane into the higher 4th-Dimensional plane of existence.

Now because of the incredible changes that have taken place within every evolving soul on Earth, we are ready for 11:11:11. This the transformation of the 3rd and 4th Dimensional planes into the higher 5th-Dimensional plane. On August 18, 2005, in a Divine Ceremony of Light, hundreds of thousands of Light workers from all over the world joined Heart Flames and created a unified Chalice of Light.

The Flame of Transfiguring Divine Love from the Heart of our Father-Mother God, poured into the physical plane of Earth. This Sacred Fire raised the vibration of the physical, etheric, mental and emotional bodies of Humanity into a frequency of the 5th Dimension beyond the reach of the human ego. In an instant, the grip of every person's human ego was burst asunder.

In that moment, as one voice, one breath, one heartbeat, one consciousness of Divine Love, every person's I AM Presence invoked Archangel Michael and his Legions of Power and Protection. These majestic Beings encapsulated every human ego in an invincible Ring Pass Not of God's First Cause of Perfection. This force field of Light from the Heart of God is a powerful Circle of White Lightning that prevents anything that is not of the Light from entering or leaving its embrace.

Once our ego's was encapsulated within this protective force field of Light, our 'I AM' Presence breathed the Circle of White Lightning into Its 5th-Dimensional Heart Flame. Our ego will remain within the Heart of our 'I AM' Presence where it will be bathed with Transfiguring Divine Love until it voluntarily surrenders into the Light and is transformed. For eleven weeks Humanity has been going through an intensified purging process to cleanse our physical, etheric, mental and emotional bodies of the patterns of imperfection our human egos which has mis-created over eons of time.

The Elemental Kingdom reflects Humanity's consciousness. Consequently, this purging process has been reflected in the bodies of Mother Earth as well. Her bodies are directly associated with the earth, air, fire and water elements. As catastrophic as this cleansing process has been, the end result is a healing and life-transforming experience for all Life on this blessed planet. Now, all is in readiness for the next phase of the Divine Plan.

With our newfound freedom from the control and manipulation of our human egos, and the intensified cleansing we have experienced over the past eleven weeks, Humanity and Mother Earth are finally vibrating at a frequency that can withstand the resplendent Light of the 5th Dimensional Flame of the Immaculate Concept. This empowering gift from the Heart of our Father-Mother God will be sustained in the physical plane of Earth on the Holy Breath of Beloved Mother Mary and Archangel Gabriel.

These selfless messengers of God are the Keepers of the Flame of the Immaculate Concept for the whole of Creation. The Divine Purpose of this Madonna Blue Flame with its crystalline white aura is to activate within our Twelve Solar Strands of DNA the genetic coding of our full Divine Potential. Without the interference of our human egos, and with the direct contact our I AM Presence now has with our physical, etheric, mental and emotional bodies through our 5th-Dimensional Solar Spine and Chakras, the Flame of the Immaculate Concept can finally fulfill its Divine Purpose. Since the fall of Humanity and the sinking of Lemuria eons ago, the portal of the Flame of the Immaculate Concept has been almost dormant. The central core of this portal pulsates above the Island of Bali, in the South Pacific.

Since the fall, Mother Mary and Archangel Gabriel have only been able to project a minuscule fraction of the original intensity of this Sacred Fire through this portal for the benefit of Humanity. For millennia, Mother Mary and Archangel Gabriel have been patiently waiting for Humanity to burst the bonds of the human ego and raise the vibration of our Earthly bodies effectively enough to connect with our 5th Dimensional I AM Presence.

Now that this has been God Victoriously accomplished, the portal of the Flame of the Immaculate Concept above Bali can once again be opened to full breadth. Since our I AM Presence is at last in position to take dominion of our Earthly bodies, Mother Mary and Archangel Gabriel can breathe the 5th Dimensional frequencies of the Flame of the Immaculate Concept through the portal in Bali. This empowering Sacred Fire will then be available for every Light worker to breathe into our Heart Flames, and then into the physical, etheric, mental and emotional strata of Earth to bless and uplift every evolving soul and every particle of Life on the planet.

In order to grasp the magnitude of what this means, we must remember that the Immaculate Concept is the Divine Blueprint of our full Divine Potential. When we were first breathed into existence from the Heart of our Father-Mother God, we were encoded and empowered with the fullness of the Causal Body of God. This means, literally and tangibly, all that our Father-Mother God has is ours.

We lost awareness of this profound Truth when we fell into chaos and confusion and became entrapped in the Fear based or induced consciousness of our human egos. Now, all of that is being reversed. Once again, the portal in Bali is going to be opened to full breadth. Mother Mary and Archangel Gabriel are then going to breathe the Flame of the Immaculate Concept.

Yes, directly into and through the portal of the genetic structures of our Twelve Solar Strands of DNA. When this Sacred Fire enters our DNA, it will activate the Divine Potential that was encoded there at the time of our inception. These codes have been dormant since the portal of the Immaculate Concept over Bali was closed after the fall. This is the main reason Humanity has so easily accepted, and acted out of the erroneous belief that we are worthless sinners and worms in the dust.

Mother Mary and Archangel Gabriel cannot just wave a wand and open the portal above Bali. In alignment with Universal Law, the call for assistance must come from the realm where the assistance is needed. In order to accomplish this facet of the Divine Plan, Light workers in the physical plane serving on behalf of all Humanity, must ask for this Divine Intervention and offer our self as a Cup, a Holy Grail, through which the Light of God will flow to open the portal of the Flame of the Immaculate Concept!

Light workers around the world are being called to assist the Beings of Light in the Realms of Illumined Truth and to serve as surrogates on behalf of Humanity. There will be approximately 100 Light workers from around the world who will travel to Bali on a sacred pilgrimage. We will serve as physical transformers to open the portal of the Immaculate Concept.

In addition, hundreds of thousands of Light workers from around the world will join in consciousness with the Light workers in Bali and project their Light into the portal in Bali from myriad locations. In synchronicity with the 11:11:11 cycle unfolding on Earth, this activity of Light will involve an eleven-day window of opportunity.

For the five days preceding November 11, 2005, 11:11:11, and the five days following that momentous day, Mother Mary and Archangel Gabriel will orchestrate the opening of the 5th-Dimensional portal of the Flame of the Immaculate Concept in Bali. This will activate the Divine Potential within the Twelve Solar Strands of Humanity's DNA. During these eleven days, we will be working in the Eternal Moment of Now.

Anytime you can join with us in consciousness and add your Light to this Activity of Light will be right and perfect. Ask your 'I AM' Presence for guidance, and you will know how best to weave your magnificent Light into this Divine Plan. There is no right or wrong way to do this. The Divine Intention in your heart is what matters.

The five days leading up to November 11, November 6-10, will be final days of cleansing and preparation. During these days, listen to your 'I AM' Presence. Pray, meditate, be in nature, open your heart to God's Infinite Love and be at Peace. On November 11th, the portal of the Immaculate Concept in Bali will be permanently opened to full breadth, and Mother Mary and Archangel Gabriel will begin flooding the planet and all her Life with the 5th-Dimensional Flame of the Immaculate Concept.

This is a day of wonder and joyous celebration. The next five days, November 12-16, will be days for assimilating the Flame of the Immaculate Concept and allowing the sacred space for the activation of the patterns of perfection from the Causal Body of God within your DNA structures. By the end of the eleventh day, your Earthly bodies will be calibrated to a higher frequency, and you will be able to withstand more Light. And so it remains for creative-light eternity.

This is really exciting!!!

DEMOCRACY – SHOULDER TO SHOULDER

I recall the days and not so far off when terms as Freedom Fighters, Liberators, Terrorists, Comrades, Insurgents and the likes were openly banded about to suit given media circumstances. Now we appear lost in a maze of varying definitions, yet honed more towards a generalized one as the very same enemy set within. Well, I'm totally confused by it all and new legislation merely confuses things even further for many.

Is one on the wrong side of a law for instances if having opinion on another's right to freedoms through independence? Indeed, securing independence with no strings attached on the surface at least, as say when Zimbabwe under Robert Mugabe secured liberty for his Freedom Fighters, Terrorists or is was that Liberators? Here thinking out aloud about the Palestinians. Is it a virtual crime to voice an opinion they too deserve total autonomy based on history and fact? Well, if you are somewhat confused, even afraid right now and rather not pass a valid opinion in a free society in case, then is your choice.

But hopefully not also holding back from being further shackled, even bullied into submission. Yes now I know full well words and actual meanings, just as with when sending a text or email, can be taken totally out of context by the receiver. Yet you actually meant totally the opposite in truth. Confused, well we all are and becoming more so in a highly charged political correct society at large. Words and meanings can well be misrepresented, even twisted, so do not entirely blame you, but what a shame to have to hide. Although will actually be far more credible by not also simply falling for everything as if you are at fault, yet again.

Here now I'll share something even bigger with you, but perhaps you have heard it before. Let's just hope and also pray legislation on a major issue is also not introduced and pushed through for daring to think, let alone mention it. Are you a Global Liberator fighting on all fronts to starve off the single biggest threat to us all? Careful now in your answer, even thought, but of course the 90 days has not been introduced, as yet.

Global warming (Warming) and as caused from poisoning our divine planet, is an out of control virus and yes a highly deadly threat to all and sundry, period. Well now, beware as not sure if should mention how daily acts carried out around the globe, places all our lives, let alone continued existence at dire risk! By far the single biggest risk yet not carried out by Freedom Fighters, Liberators, Terrorists, Comrades, Insurgents, Liberators, but by out of control Capitalists, but not advertised as loudly.

Those totally motivated through greed to own even more and more, even if poisoning all, far and wide. More people are becoming afflicted with asthma and even dying these days than those recorded from cigarette smoking. Yet smokers are hounded from pillar to post, even though contribute huge profits after costs to the countries coffers. What profit is there in anything if a person must also sell his soul in the process?

Yet another clear or classic sign we are run by Hypocrisy right across the board in an ever increasing control freak world at large. Democracy is a word, along with principle which we the ordinary folk of this world are hearing promoted more and more during enlightened, even civilized periods for the human species. I often see esteemed global politicians or Western leaders as George Bush and Tony Blair traveling the globe promoting Democracy. They are powered by high octane energy efficient fuels wrapped up as Democracy.

Hardly a day passes and we are told the world needs Democracy to function properly and fairly. Now I could refer say to the Oxford dictionary for due reference and diligence for guidance on the basic principles therein implied. However, am rather inclined and so tempted to express an understanding of Democracy from a lay-mans, no perhaps even a more enlightened point of view. Even as a voter if you like and constantly sold merits of casting a divine right which many around the globe simply do not have access to even exercise!

Not to waist such a hard earned democratic right which so many sacrificed for so we might secure divine right through earthly divinity. Well now, I totally agree many did make a supreme sacrifice on our behalf. But it is what has been done with that hard earned freedom since I'm trying to get the head around here. I'm trying to view Democracy from not only my, but even your viewpoint as it is sold to us on a daily basis. We hear this word being expressed daily as if the be and end all for all our and other issues, even solutions to Universal problems, a panacea.

On paper, even in principle, appears all fine and dandy permitting all without discrimination to post a divine right in privacy of who they want representing points of view, principles and policies! All very simple really, as we hear various arguments presented from the left, centre and right. Then we amble off to cast a divine hard earned right known as democracy for one or the other who has stolen our heart strings the most. Well, nothing wrong with that at all, well in principle (words) at least. Here it is a total rub soon rubs off and which should have each and every one of us highly skeptical Democracy actually represents all our divine interests.

So pose this question to mill over as is highly relevant:

“Why, if democracy was and so indeed remains ‘the be and end to it all,’ were huge swaths of our world left in virtual Democratic limbo for decades?”

For surely the manner which it is now promoted globally as a divine right, then principles of Democratic Freedoms alone was worth fighting over, even if physically! Well worth sacrificing lives over for say the likes of the Former Soviet Union, China, Cuba, parts of Asia, The Middle East, along with a number of other disenfranchised regions. Why for example, was the vile system of Apartheid in South Africa allowed to flourish for ages?

A system by the way and first introduced by Britain after colonization of those parts as virtual Separate Development. There to actually be supported or propped up for decades by Western nations retaining intrinsic fiscal interests, either way. There was not majority vote for decades there, but while suiting. Many a Western Leader, actually promoted doing trade and other things with what others termed the most vile system and regime invented.

If the Communists were so against capitalism from the top, then running right through the centre and out at the bottom end, explain this to me, please. While we Rhodesians were under international siege, it was actually the Russians, yes those once totally anti-capitalist regimes, doing booming business with the rebel Rhodesians! They were purchasing at source our high grade uranium and other products and then selling it own at a high premium to the West!

Both sides of course knew this full well, which just goes to show there is no divide when it comes down to bottom lines. Surely the two sides or East and West had tied agreements in place to work together, but appear as a huge divide existing on the surface at any rate! Now for those who take time out to understand the deeper story, reasons and implications, there was very good reason why certain regions in the world had agreed not to promote that which we understand as free, democratic societies.

It all comes down to creating a certain vibration, be it negative or positive on the surface. There to influence directly that which lay below the surface. By that I mean once understanding where the twelve (12) Universal star gates are located and how they are inter-connected by crystalline ranges linking vortexes, worm holes, port holes and the likes. You will then be positioned to make far more sense out of all this.

Do recall and so remind yourself, we are a planet and directly aligned throughout a wider Cosmos of light infusion and all held together by common electro-magnetic forces secured or fused together as divine crystalline infusions. I'll be totally candid on this, as it does concern deeply in Democratic societies, even prisoners of war can face torture. What proves even more disconcerting and is highly probably secret prisons are dotted around Europe.

They are keeping suspected terrorists, as yet also unproven confined or locked up. Why in the first instance do they have to remain secret? Surely as the war is promoted as defending and fighting against a common international enemy, they should be openly advertised as such for general consumption? Simply having suspects in-turned, should not remain a state secret, unless there's more than meets the eye after what emerged out of prisoner treatment both in Iraq and at Gwantanimo Bay, Cuba.

These types of highly secretive operatives most certainly leave open a number of questions over liberty, if not morals and civilized societies. Do recall The Geneva Convention enshrined after the second world-war, was specifically introduced by civilized societies to hopefully ensure all prisoners of war receive equal, fair treatment. It is Western Nations who coined the term International War on Terrorism after all.

How can it be such defined rulings are then merely bent or amended? No and not through the international community, but by some suiting given circumstances at any given period? Let us say this was transpiring during the former Yugoslavia, then those, but now also just as guilty, would soon call an extra ordinary United Nations meeting. They would insist those lands and even peoples are sanctioned. No, the greater sin is that certain lands do this and not that someone, somewhere leaked the fact out about the CIA.

No and not that some human somewhere still retains a human conscious of right verses wrong. There should be no witch hunt against true liberties and human rights, most certainly not! If there is one thing you will always reserve a divine right to, it is retaining your own open mind. Don't allow that to also become hijacked or totally clouded. Yes, I agree and understand it is becoming far harder, if not impossible to air a heart felt view or reaction to many things during these more enlightened, indeed even civilized periods for humanity. Sorry about that from a real beating heart.

DOWN TO EARTH - TRANSYLVANIA CRYSTALLINE MOUNTAIN RANGE

Believe it or not, but the combined universal vibration of football or soccer physiology is helping retain a certain vibration across an expanded Europe right now. The arched Carpathian Mountain Range is an extension of the Alps of Central Europe through the West Carpathians with the Beskid Mts. and the Tatras.

It is also the transition to the Balkan Mountains of South Eastern Europe through the "Porta Orientalis" (Temesch-Cerna-Fault) - ah the Balkans, interesting that. The region is separated from the Black Sea plains and the Eurasian steppe by the East Carpathians, from the Romanian lower land by the South Carpathians (Transylvanian Alps) and from the great Hungarian Plains by the Transylvanian West Mountains (Muntii Apuseni).

The Carpathians therefore, not only separate distinct geographical regions, but also link the regions commonly known as Eastern, Central and Southeastern Europe, regions which differed greatly in their diverse cultural development throughout history. At this point, is well worth doing some investigations into the East Carpathians. The Pietrosul Rodnei as the highest peak at 2303 metres, then divided into three parallel mountain ranges.

A westerly range of volcanic origin (the Oas Mtn., Gutâi Mtn., Tiblesului Mtn., Călimani/Kelemen Mtn., Gurghiuului/Görgény Mtn., Haghitei/Hargitta Mtn.) Here the main range of crystalline structures (Marmarosch Mtn., Rodna Mtn., Borgo Mtn.) and an easterly and southeasterly range (from Ciucului/Csík-Mountains to the Hohenstein and Postávarul/Schuler). Here are saddle-like depressions and gorges and expanding to river valleys.

This allows for relatively easy crossing of mountain passes like Tihuta (Borgo), Oituz (Oitoz) and Predeal-Prahova. They all became very important traffic routes. The East Carpathians also separate the climatic zones of the Atlantic, the Continental and the Baltic provinces. Might not mean much on immediate reflection, yet is the vital point. The Earth's twelve (12) star gates are directly influenced by the positioning during decades of outer influences.

The direct positioning of planets and stars through Earth's solar configuration the likes of Pluto, Venus, Mars and of course a number of others greater Cosmic variances. These direct influences bare relation to a specific vibration at any given light time or crystalline vortex marking. At the ending of the second world-war, certain planetary influences and working in conjunction with the Earth pole shift many eons earlier, placed Earth's crystalline calibration and so vibration outside of divine Universal laws.

So effectively, handed power and also control to those who manipulated certain regional crystalline vibrations where a planetary vibration through certain ideologies are imbedded. Yet while also then only suiting certain alignments periods, even to set Earthly agenda's. In other words, the TRANSYLVANIA CRYSTALLINE MOUNTAIN RANGE in the main was set to secure calculated or calibrated periods encompassing the former Soviet Union States.

These had and still do play a vital and pivotal role as a time vortex calculated to directly influence vibration outcomes in line with fiscal scales of powers over all. It helped greatly to secure and so keep certain negative polarity alignments in line so to speak with the positioning of certain outer, but hugely influential Earth solar planetary alignments.

A whole scenario has now been forced to change drastically. As during the year 2004, we of the Earth plane were visited by wider cosmos electromagnetic influences termed a five pointed star re-alignment of original Cheribum formation and balance. This has been followed by divine light Earth infusions deep to crystalline focal points, globally. The former Rhodesia, now Zimbabwe retains a vital crystalline vortex at 19.5 degrees and is placed the closest to the South-pole zero access.

In order for Earth's physical authority to retain some sort of control through fiscal measures, lands and once controlled under a siege vibration or dark influence and visa versa, had to alter operatives and so appear more open to ground force influences at a specific point. Even now China, along with huge swaths of Asia and the Middle East, now follow a line driven from the core and promoted as leading to captured fiscal vibrations.

While actually, is rather globalization through fiscal infusions and policies leading to a virtual captured market in reverse. A free, even so termed open market philosophy becomes even more deeply entrenched to further entrap greed. All might well appear as re-franchising a majority in the main, while poverty and disease spreads far and wide by each passing human minute.

Indeed, might appear on the surface around the globe as democratic, even more open, free societies. Yet in all truth, to then actually discover a minority still rules a roost so to speak. Ever since the ending of the second world-war and as a clear illustration, a world appears as having grown richer, even free. Yet, set deep within a wider-world promoted as richer, even more civilized and ever since 1945, some 95% of our planets total wealth in all forms, is now owned and or controlled by only some 5%.

So much for enfranchising the masses or majority rule! This brings me neatly around to what we believe represents our democratic rights set within a free, open societies. When Robert Mugabe of Zimbabwe was enhanced by both the West and East to run or ruin those lands, he did not in effect win the first black majority rule election held there. There was huge rigging taking place, along with huge dollops of outright intimidation.

Did the moral West declare the rigged election as null and void? Like hell they did and some twenty-five years on from 1980 up to 2005, Mugabe is still in total control. This is even though at the last election, his Zanu (PF) party only returned some 18% of the total populations vote. Here is the beginning of democratic rules which now spreads like wild fire throughout a wider civilized world.

We look at Britain as a clear example or where first past the post applies and where boundaries are moved when suiting. How can a Government which only received some forty-odd percent of the popular vote, end up having such a huge majority in the House? Just does not add up and the same principle applies in The United States (40%) as fine democratic examples of how a majority simply do not count. So allow me to then pose a vital, even civilized question for you to ponder over and hopefully also answer?

“Where does Democracy begin and therefore also so end?”

I have just a few words to offer as an answer for the above and spells:

Accountability or Transparency!

Well, this is exactly where it all ends and also where we are rendered helpless as all our democratic rights from then forth are withdrawn. After elections, we are forced to effectively hand over all rights to a minority making decisions on behalf of a majority. We and not through real choices, hand over our daily lives to those who do not have to account for their actions from then on.

It most certainly was not a majority of Britain's and American's in the main who voted to go into a tangled mess and illegal war in Iraq costing billions while their very own suffer back home. It is not voters who agree to non-elected civil servants and government advisers speaking for and directing vital issues on all our behalf.

It is not us who agree to former, but disgraced members of Government simply being brought back into high office at the whim of Prime Ministers. It is not us the voters who withdraw available funds from vital services while we see our fellow citizens suffering in silence, even perishing out of total neglect. It is not us who then appoint non-elected spin doctors who greatly influence our leaders to suit what suits them.

Now you might wonder why I even bother highlighting just the tip of an iceberg. Well, it is termed remaining real or original by still believing in basic principles of decency. Delivering and so also knowing lies have got a whole world to the edge of a travesty while afflicting the welfare of us all, the majority.

I'm certainly not ashamed to advocate and so live with truths, rather than outright lies which now appear as if standard norms of civilisation. To fight on for justice for all, for what is dished up as a main course by current civilised leaders, is a travesty in the extreme, even tinged with poison.

Do never forget my homeland of the then Rhodesia, was sold out, along with all that implies. It remains a classic case of securing strategic positions for themselves and not for the right reasons or a majority. Yes indeed, in so called free and democratic lands, one should be allowed to remain free and so also voice and even follow certain beliefs. But I'm afraid that applies only in principle and not in practice, now.

Should a person be able, no indeed allowed to record deeper inner thoughts and convictions? Yes of course they should, but let me tell you I have already been sidelined in instances, even with hidden computers used to undermine certain folk. In my instance all for daring to ask why Zimbabwe is merely allowed to perish, well actually die with no recourse!

Yes that's right, folk are marked as a problem for daring to care about a land and so in turn peoples. Well, the cold war is done and dusted and now we have the war on international terrorism. We must also defeat it shoulder to shoulder. Yes, we have lived with wars of a kind for centuries; only the reasons for such actions vary, that's all.

Now I know demarcations took place after the ending of the second-world war or where two ideologies were distinctly drawn in the sand. Then further highlighted while dividing East by West with a high wall to include of course fundamental differing principles - well in principle. I'll tell you why the word and meaning in principle is so important.

Here now by outlining just one example of where what appears on the surface, does not necessarily apply underneath. The principle argument of two ideologies working separately has never actually functioned as such for those controlling global fiscal trade markets.

Do recall, although history books in our schools these days do not permit lesson of a history, my homeland the then Rhodesia, was subjected to harsh international sanctions for some twenty odd years. In effect, we had been outlawed as virtual pariahs as not functioning under that termed international law. Believe me, those days were extremely harsh or where finding a job to secure ones family at times proved impossible.

That is even before allowing for the fact we were fighting a vicious war and yes against terrorists killing innocent women and children. Yet, also funded by many sources, both Western and Communist inspired! I lost a number of direct family members and also close friends. This as a whole world distanced itself from us for daring to care for a majority long term interests and welfare.

Do recall both Western and Communist lands as members of the United Nations, worked hand in hand. They voted as one to have us ostracised from civilisation! Just look now at the independent and so called civilised Zimbabwe, formerly Rhodesia to see exactly what is implied here, even as a global template.

Now please think on this, as goes some way to give clearer indications of those working hand in hand, shoulder to shoulder. SHOULDER TO SHOULDER THROUGH TRUTHS – LONG LIVE ACCOUNTABILIY and in turn TRANSPARENCY! High hope on that happening I'm afraid, as is simply not right practice representing and so safeguarding majority needs and wishes.

One-By-One, the Eternal Flames of Europe Ignite and Open 11.11.11. Mapping out of original grids of light require careful construction and observance of the process activating on land. Every continent hosts many gifts opening celestial avenues. The European continent has exceptional qualities many have forgotten exists on this planet. Due to the nature of duality and the entities gathered in this region cells mutate between clarity and friction.

It is the Youth however that will begin to host pure light particles as many leaders rise to the surface and assist all grand adventures planned. The house of Light has great care and focus particularly under the direction of Arch Angel Michael and many legions of technical purity gathered for this event. It involves the structure of Business, Shambhalla Governing and understanding Laws created during Evolving times.

Two areas of particular interest realigning without magnetic currents and gravity are in Berlin, Germany and Auschwitz Camp, Poland. To study European history is to retrieve treasures left untouched by humankind. On this continent alone you will have representation of two polar opposites, Density and Light. What looks like tainted history once unraveled restores virtuous presentation.

World War 2 deeply afflicted the entire global market during a time when the news reported through pictures and film. The Fury came as group consciousness allowed electromagnetic power to take over and common sense was swept aside. To this day that essence still cycles around magnetic fields as every family involved on several continents still play that trauma out in the cells.

At the end of the fifth golden age, before earth took a fall from its direct connection, Germany, Belgium and the Netherlands were one territory or family. The most Pristine Crystalline Tower of Light resided in what is known today as Berlin. Back in the age of crystalline light it was known as simply the TOWER, because the entire planet drew from its energy Source and architecture from this great role model.

There were no cars, oil, or chemicals of lesser light strangling the atmosphere due to such high-level beings maintaining this for the entire group whole. Naturally if it assisted the planet within light waves the energy transferred into the Universe as Harmony. It was a wondrous orchestration of light technical facilitation. When light began to dim during times of power and manipulation, intellectual dual players took on the blanket of creating an electromagnetic force field that associated with other entities of a lesser degree around the globe.

It was a project headed by the SEVEN councils or governing affairs around the world that had sent purity packing. As the world began to lose touch and gave way into anger and fear, lower technology grounded easily. For every light anchored an equal amount of gravity stood by its side until even the most brilliant facilitators fed into defensive behaviors. Any time a team goes into defense it creates an offense.

Today many light servers are back on land to finish the job of securing grids that host the foundation of this universe by turning away from density and anger. The supposed “battles” between light and dark carry out in electromagnetic grids. If one is connected inside the Light Grid System of Shambhalla there is no battle. It means that this time around Duality will Battle itself. Thus the Beauty of Eternal Life returns back on ground.

Poland carrying the consciousness now of the Death Hormone inside the Brain will realign with Berlin drawing liquid golden ley-lines underground inside crystalline energy infusing Eternal Life for all that accept it in Peace. What carries Death on land will certainly carry Life. It is truly an easy study once you get in tune with universal factors and equations not attached into emotional extremism popular today.

For those taking this journey the strongest anchoring will manifest in Berlin and preparation with dietary upgrades and meditation is requested. A structural standard rating the Book of Eternal Life will stage its way across the planet reaching every conscious being. It is the end of the solar cycle where the family of Light is concerned.

One will begin to set quality in the body beyond the soul level where the line of divinity is drawn inside the 'I AM' Presence tracking system. Technically speaking there is an educated area creating movement from physicality into Immortality. This takes homework and yet moves at the speed of sound electrical currents in between the ears. When hearing within opens the universe sends along its calling card.

IS THIS A GREAT BETRAYAL?

The greatest Betrayal of humans on humans unfolds, as even Prince Charles was reported (Sunday 4.9.2005), as having genuine fears when stating: "The World is run by some very nasty people" during an earlier interview with Jonathan Dingleby. In effect, esteemed leaders are guided by outside influences on what is said, seen and even delivered. The Human right principle of selling out Rhodesia (Southern Africa, 1980) is the TOTAL POINT as clear examples.

It remains Planet Earth's gravest outstanding test of Principles recorded to firmly spotlight on PRINCIPLES offered by Earth's so called highly appointed Principled, Principles. Then ask why for instance Robert Gabriel Mugabe of Zimbabwe was duly knighted for services to Britain? Also, why the English Cricket team recently traveled to those lands as millions upon millions suffer under an outright dictator?

Why an innocent man was shot dead in London by police? Also ask why hurricanes and earthquakes and the like are becoming far more frequent and sadly, also deadly? Well, divine light of all creation, watches over and sees certain Earth Leaders playing a huge roll while engulfed in a spider web. They are proving Planet Earth's greatest challenge, even recruiters in securing Divine Light Sanity. Actions as the illegal invasion of Iraq and lack of firm action against Zimbabwe (Hypocrisy), has activated Divine Light Infusion at Greater Source.

These fine upstanding examples assist many humans to search out Truths and Answers. Now instead, they turn towards Divine light of Salvation for sanity and answers. Humans now understand a huge battle for control of Earth rages on. The 'Third Eye' or divine natural Force (EQUALISER), tries securing Divine Light Sanity. Please read www.nextagemission.com for far more in depth explanations.

Indeed, recent current divine revelations offer but one choice for 'ALL HUMANITY' or to open the 'HUMAN CONSCIOUS.' Yes, too finally open up while also discovering Planet Earth's Divine Light Creation Pathway and Meanings. Search out Divine Meanings to it all and in particular; what this the 4th human light cycle means for all! No, humans are not originators as proclaimed, but contrive to manipulate all origination.

Do watch out for Planet Mars as it moves closer to challenge material influences so blighting our planet. Ah, those greater influences which have assisted certain Earth positions of wealth, deliver out and out GOD'S OF GREED. Do explore why things now change for good. Now ask yourself this: Why does it need a tragedy to unite society, well until the next time that is? Recall it was the once British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher who proclaimed:

"There is no such thing as Society, only one of Individuals."

Here then classic signs certain Agenda's do exist by weakening first through contrived Divide and Rule mentalities. Well, everything has gone down hill since - right. Then also ask: Who is behind certain Earth's human leaders? Indeed, even possibly guiding them, daily. Now cast towards dying Africa, as conveniently proves important to them once more.

Again ask why? We ALL now live in much uncertain times as 'Violence' in all forms rises, right! Do read on and discover a GRAND PLAN remains World Fiscal Domination and WHY? The War of the Galaxies is real, very real. Believe it as indeed Darth Vader exists; only under a different name of (LUCIFER).

Much is done daily in all OUR Sacred names, while two forces of negative and positive energies or LIGHT v DARK clash and delivers a bitter end for many. Yes sadly, the battle for SANITY rages on to a bitter end, while many will not open the human conscious to truths. Well, a divine crystal transitional light time is here. IT IS WITH US ALL NOW, CLEARLY.....

WHERE HUMANS SHOULD PERHAPS RATHER BEWARE NOT TO DARE!

Do read the below as submitted by eminent folk in their field. Is the far greater Universe trying to tell us something here? Even that we humans as currently structured in a more solid 3rd dimensional state for a reason, so are meant to stay at home. Try fixing our divine planet, first. That we should stop trying to interfere with that we really know little about. Stop trying to also colonize that already belonging to Greater Universal Creation.

That the specific conditions are altering and being configured at a rapid rate through gasses, carbon transformation. Indeed alters conditions to welcome in a new Universal Dawn and before our very eyes. It will change until Humans will not even perhaps be able to exit our own Earth atmosphere for fear a total constitution might merely dissolve.

New Research into Mysterious Moon Storms
by Trudy E. Bell & Dr. Tony Phillips science.nasa.gov posted: 07 December 2005 05:07 pm ET

Every lunar morning, when the sun first peeks over the dusty soil of the moon after two weeks of frigid lunar night, a strange storm stirs the surface. The next time you see the moon, trace your finger along the terminator, the dividing line between lunar night and day. That's where the storm is.

It's a long and skinny dust storm, stretching all the way from the North to the South Pole! Swirling across the surface, following the terminator as sunrise ceaselessly sweeps around the moon. Never heard of it? Few have. But scientists are increasingly confident that the storm is real.

The evidence comes from an old Apollo experiment called LEAM, short for Lunar Ejecta and Meteorites. "Apollo 17 astronauts installed LEAM on the moon in 1972," explains Timothy Stubbs of the Solar System Exploration Division at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center.

"It was designed to look for dust kicked up by small meteoroids hitting the moon's surface."

Billions of years ago, meteoroids hit the moon almost constantly, pulverizing rocks and coating the moon's surface with their dusty debris. Indeed, this is the reason why the moon is so dusty. Today these impacts happen less often, but they still happen. Apollo-era scientists wanted to know, how much dust is ejected by daily impacts? And what are the properties of that dust?

LEAM was to answer these questions using three sensors that could record the speed, energy, and direction of tiny particles: one each pointing up, east, and west. LEAM's three-decade old data are so intriguing. They're now being reexamined by several independent groups of NASA and university scientists. Gary Olhoeft, professor of geophysics at the Colorado School of Mines in Golden, is one of them:

"To everyone's surprise," says Olhoeft, "LEAM saw a large number of particles every morning, mostly coming from the east or west--rather than above or below and mostly slower than speeds expected for lunar ejecta."

What could cause this? Stubbs has an idea:

"The dayside of the moon is positively charged; the nightside is negatively charged." At the interface between night and day, he explains, "electro-statically charged dust would be pushed across the terminator sideways by horizontal electric fields."

Even more surprising, Olhoeft continues, a few hours after every lunar sunrise, the experiment's temperature rocketed so high--near that of boiling water that "LEAM had to be turned off because it was overheating."

Those strange observations could mean that "electrically-charged moon dust was sticking to LEAM, darkening its surface so the experiment package absorbed rather than reflected sunlight," speculates Olhoeft.

But nobody knows for sure. LEAM operated for a very short time: only 620 hours of data were gathered during the icy lunar night and a mere 150 hours of data from the blazing lunar day before its sensors were turned off and the Apollo program ended.

Astronauts may have seen the storms, too. While orbiting the Moon, the crews of Apollo 8, 10, 12, and 17 sketched "bands" or "twilight rays" where sunlight was apparently filtering through dust above the moon's surface. This happened before each lunar sunrise and just after each lunar sunset.

NASA's Surveyor spacecraft also photographed twilight "horizon glows," much like what the astronauts saw. It's even possible that these storms have been spotted from Earth: For centuries, there have been reports of strange glowing lights on the moon, known as "lunar transient phenomena" or LTPs.

Some LTPs have been observed as momentary flashes--now generally accepted to be visible evidence of meteoroids impacting the lunar surface. But others have appeared as amorphous reddish or whitish glows or even as dusky hazy regions that change shape or disappear over seconds or minutes. Early explanations, never satisfactory, ranged from volcanic gases to observers' overactive imaginations (including visiting extraterrestrials).

Now a new scientific explanation is gaining traction.

"It may be that LTPs are caused by sunlight reflecting off rising plumes of electro-statically lofted lunar dust," Olhoeft suggests.

All this matters to NASA because, by 2018 or so, astronauts are returning to the Moon. Unlike Apollo astronauts, who never experienced lunar sunrise, the next explorers are going to establish a permanent outpost. They'll be there in the morning when the storm sweeps by.

The wall of dust, if it exists, might be diaphanous, invisible and possibly harmless! Or it could be a real problem, clogging spacesuits, coating surfaces and causing hardware to overheat. Which will it be? Says Stubbs, we've still got a lot to learn about the Moon."

WHAT OF WHALES, DOLPHINS AND BIRD SPECIES?

Below, I have included a small extract from the hollow earth workings which is included in the blog list. I've done this, as is important understanding and therefore also believing multiple-living life exists and thrives to the earth's inner-core. Life forms of all sorts of shapes, dimensions and purpose, which in fact helps keep our planet balanced from what transpires on the surface.

If you can see and so also agree there is much disharmony throughout the earth's surface as ever increasing daily dangers; then we will learn to become eternally grateful that set within our deeper planet of zero balanced point is secured ultimate sanity.

LIFE WITHIN THE DEEPER EARTH CORE:

The "problem" with what is taught about Earth and all other planets in school, is they ARE filled with solid rock, yet are actually HOLLOW. Planets have their insides filled with life, usually more than on their external surface. Planets are not just rocks as are the source of life to those that inhabit them. They have a soul around and within their bodies. During the ages, there were always those who knew about planetary hollowness.

It is common knowledge to older, wiser Civilizations from other areas of the Universe. Earth scientists became aware as well, but the knowledge was blocked by the one world order. The governments block this information to the mass of people... There are entrances to the inside plane of Earth through the poles. The poles are actually holes that go through both sides of the planet, as if a stick had perforated Earth from North to South.

The area that can render a compass unusable is located near those poles, and is not a single point, but would be close to a circle located on the top and on the bottom of the planet. The circle lies around the "Pole Entrances". This circle area is where the magnetic field lines that surround earth converge on the North and South Pole regions. Satellite images are modified so that these entrance holes are not shown to the masses.

The north entrance is highly guarded. The southern entrance is blocked by ice and has its access blocked or made further difficult by bases and patrols. The planet's inner surface throbs with life and far more life energy than the external one.

THE BIG FLOOD

There are numerous references made through the world-wide web outlining and explaining planet earth's land mass before the big flood. Do yourself a big favor to take time out and place in the search bar the words 'Planet Earth's land mass before the big flood.' You will be amazed at just how it was configured and need to ask what made it change so dramatically. Actually, Earth then represented some two thirds land and one third sea water, which of course are now opposite or one third land and two thirds water (reversed).

At this point, should have you wondering why a layout or configuration had to alter at all, even what brought this about! Actually, appears there was a combination of factors through causes leading in turn, as all actions do, to certain after effects. I'm led to understand the original design for human existence was calculated and so balanced through the Universal five-star configuration. That which is termed the original Earth polarity Cheribum, with Lucifer or Satan before the mighty-fall to the front (see explanation under blog what happened to the Dinosaurs).

On being thrown out of the heavens, Lucifer and his followers took over the 3rd solid state dimensions, along with retaining portions of the 4th as with Sirius B for example. It is from within these dimensions and vibrations they transmute between Etheric (energy) light-dimensions to effectively hold certain vibrations in a continual state of control and manipulation, but for their own ends.

The forces faces of man or North, South, East and West, also represents the four human cycles of humans, with this the fourth cycle now at a final phase. Yet as of now, also represent critical mass re-configuration light convergences before ushering in the human 5th Etheric spiritual realm. It is here we need to more fully understand why Whales and Dolphins, along with numerous other sea creatures, play a vital role in what now unfolds for all humanity!

So once realizing more fully original earth was more land than water, is to understand that all that water had to go somewhere. Just as it did when re-surfacing once the earth mass as we now know it was re-calibrated. The original five pointed star aligns with planets Earth's existing five continents. It was and so is still deeply imprinted to the Earth's operative template, but with the fallen angels operating out of sink as that originally decreed.

In another blog following, the question what happened to the Dinosaurs is posed. A number and growing, now also start turning back to the original teachings and understandings of wiser, yet also for now lost Civilizations as the Hopi, Mayans and many others around the globe, as counseled through esteemed Shamans. They have always known about all our originations and so meaning set within a wider cosmic calibration.

Perhaps here is why so many of their teachings were in a number of cases ruthlessly drowned out in one way or other. They know full well that just as we start out this life cushioned by a mothers comforting womb surrounded by water, so to we are actually original creatures of the wider oceans. That we once retained full ability to survive and so indeed also thrive as water beings, along with being land and divine-light convergence creations.

We were then still as intended as multi-faceted creations and meanings forming part of the whole. We are extremely fortunate, if not also privileged the deeper inner-earth core has remained in tact. That no matter whether Earth and many of its divine creatures were wiped out through a huge meteorite impact or even Sonic boom impact.

We are saved as the inner core of zero interference stands alone, yet also divinely inter-connected through out the ages of definitive time vortexes. It is the virtual womb that in the end cushions planet earth from ever losing an original meaning. While talking about wombs, please also scan the internet to find pictures of the human embryo developing. Take in a few hard looks as feel sure a certain picture therein will emerge before your very eyes.

Can you see what is meant here? We see a miracle of creation emerging, yet surrounded in water. Now do you agree looks like something else, and even specific? Not during certain stages of development, quite of human formation as yet, but what one would typically recognize, even term of so-called Alien features. Well, decide for yourself and after careful examination, looks rather similar to me and a number of others, also. Anyway, back to specific subject at hand or Whales and Dolphins, along with bird species.

So now here is something which authority keeps away from you, just as they do and have about what the North and South poles really represent. There is so much more natural creation with great powers contained there in they have to protect the poles from so-called prying eyes vigorously all year round. Ask yourself why this or what do they know they don't want us a majority to know! Well from what is considered common knowledge, Whales and Dolphins communicate by means of highly tuned, configured and so also connected sonar-wave patterns.

They are able to and do communicate directly with a far wider universes through patterned high-pitched frequencies. This then in turn reaches not only to the very depths, but also to the higher light realms. Indeed, transmit a high frequency tone, which is understood through unscrambled high frequency tuners by both living life at Earth's inner core, along with those divine visitors from outer-space.

In effect, they form part of the calibrated Universal communication sonar pattern chain linking Earth's surface and a greater or wider Cosmos of light-being functions. They regularly visit the huge cities within the Earth's inner core and on re-surfacing then greatly assist in spreading and so sealing cosmic light frequencies to the sea bed, along with Earth's surface.

Indeed, similar in fashion to what divinely infused crop-circles are also designed to achieve or secure a certain divine frequency range. Down the years, but more specifically over the past thirty odd years now, we read regular stories of whole schools of Whales and Dolphins apparently committing mass suicide through pacts. Well, nothing could be further from the truth, as what is actually transpiring is authority carrying out multiple deep sea explosions.

Yet hide behind that termed deep sea bomb tests and oil rig explorations. Actually, each time you see the Whales and Dolphins beached, they have had their sonar system totally imbalanced by design through such explosions! So somewhere authority knows full well these mammals are of far greater divine meaning and purpose, while setting out to totally disorientate them. Even a possible reason while Whale hunting, along with fishermen's nets are more often out there causing even further disruptions.

So how would the inner core cities have come about in the main? Well, prior to the big flood, Earth's land mass comprised of the Lost City of Atlantis and Lumerian continents. That was before being forced to sink through combinations of what we see emerging again or human intelligent ego's driven forward by outright GREED.

Power corrupts, while absolute power corrupts absolutely, leading in turn to all caution going out the window. In order for power to retain power, they then introduce powers to retain a power base. Indeed, even if at the cost of all else, more especially by entities able to ascend from a chaos by ascending from the third vibration back to the fourth and visa versa.

So we should not totally discount the use of sonic boom impact being employed for varying end outcomes by those determined to cling to power. There are those of solid human form actually retaining light-ability to ascend to the very depths of the lost cities. There they report even seeing the lost Dinosaurs roaming freely and peacefully. So all those species have not been lost entirely, rather live in places where no harm can befall them.

BIRD SPECIES

Even our Earth Scientists, tend to concede after the huge Earth shift or when the Dinosaurs were wiped out, some living organisms remained in tack. These formed part of the bird species, which some say are remnants of once Dinosaurs. This might well be accurate, while here now I introduce another facet of the importance of many bird species acting in a vital role, also. This might prove of great importance right now in fact or during the year 2005.

It is here now where Earth's portal 11 is activated as the 11.11.11 11 November 2005 opening. As we all should by now know, birds around the globe, but more especially those who migrate, are blamed for spreading that termed the deadly bird virus, globally. Well, it might be of interest to learn just as we have the Whales and Dolphins linking between the inner-earth cores back to the surface, birds can also link further up the chain between Earth and a wider light-cosmos.

Those species and which by design can cover mile upon mile each day, while infusing divine-light to the surface below. So if mammals are perceived as a threat to certain sections of intelligence, then also stands to reason bird species too can be targeted, but from behind certain misguided guises. We should not be too shocked if learning a number of Earth's highly dangerous and also contagious diseases are recognized in advance. Even possibly to be hatched as costly treatments just in case such and such might make an unpleasant appearance. Much to mull over, while also keeping an open mind to all possibilities, really!
