

Sustaining Your Successful Project/ Programme Management career in a fast-changing, complex, global world market

How to plan your career

Professor Eddie Obeng

I'm sure you know the old joke with the punch line 'Well I wouldn't have started from here!' Fortunately for you if you've picked up this article you are in fact starting in one of the very best places. Project, Programme and Change management still continue to be the most valuable and transferable of all management capabilities.....