

Anyway

Standing outside your window
Careful not to make a sound
Soft light from your window
Makes shadows all around

The light that shines upon me
It warms me to my bone
I want the light that is within me
To shine into your home

We are still here now
After all these days
Please hurt me baby
So that I can say
That I didn't love you anyway

Stuck on a wheel of fortune
Between zero and a million notes
If I was a steeple chaser
I would be inches from the post

Cos your love has made me crazy
I'll whisper things under my breath
But as long as I'm not lying to me
Its alright, I can talk to myself

You are still here now
After all these days
Please hurt me baby
So that I can say
That I didn't love you anyway

I have said that I love you
'Til those words became a knife
You used the blade to cut me
But you did not end my life

Love cannot last forever
We're changing all the time
But maybe we could grow together
Wouldn't that be fine?

I am still here now
After all these lonely days
Please hurt me baby
So that I can say

That I didn't love you anyway
I shouldn't love you anyway
I dot care anyway
So please stay.

By Lisa Fallon For J. F