INTRODUCTION

Coming soon - Yes, what goes in also comes out! So, what's motivated this short, yet also concise, even gold mine of a find? Well, we are talking here about the most precious gift that can be bestowed on us or that of freshly born children as miracles arriving on our divine planet earth from creation. Indeed, just look around you to see how so many of our children seem lost today, lost in their ways, even defined direction. Yet, if we as caring, diligent parents can also understand what we teach them and show them from day one to the age of approximately seven, also delivers what that child grows up to represent. As someone once very wisely stated:

“Give me the boy or girl up to the age of seven, and I'll deliver you the man or women they turn out to be in society.”

Says much really and here through experience, we aim to try and help you deliver the next generation we can all be proud of. They're going to need great guidance and more so than ever with the changes taking place on earth. A number arrive here far wiser from day one, then end up even more confused as intuitively know what's happening on our planets where so much simply should not be transpiring, yet feel powerless to do anything about it as are taught to compete, rather than compliment. That coming second is to lose, rather than being taught we all come first.
