

Three stories woven together to make one fast moving novel.
This is women's fiction at its best.

All the way to the top
Forget about the drop
Keep climbing all the way to the top

Three women trying to climb the glass mountain. They take a step, then another, fall back, and try again. The beauty, the brain, and the talent.

Marilyn, her mother named her after the tragic movie star. The light that surrounded her burned so bright that it scorched her.

Jennifer, everyone tells her there is magic in her voice. She almost makes the climb, the last step she stumbles to the bottom.

Nicole, clever and cunning. Her quest for beauty, her anger that she never captures her elusive dream destroys her.
