Just add me to the list of people who would rather not have you around them if you don’t mind. Like everyone else you’ve ever been in proximity of, you creep me out. Your hero and his hope and change socialist ideas have been a total disaster for this country and I know that bothers you and the fact that myself and other patriotic Americans predicted it has turned out to be the icing on your crow pie. Millions of people are out of work, nobody can afford gas for their cars, our credit rating has been downgraded and we’re headed for collapse with the guy you predicted would save us. Well, he was wrong and you were wrong and now you want to lash out at patriotic Americans about it because admitting you were wrong and that your ideas were a total disaster is something you just can’t countenance. Your idol will be sent packing next election if he doesn’t bring us to total collapse and destruction before then. Get used to the idea. It’s a done deal.
